

Yearbook

By Scott Watts 12/06

Smiling faces
Haunt me now
Looking back to the past

This book of memories
Taunts me now
As time I can't ever have back

You go now
Pushing ahead with your life
Frozen in black and white
You go now
From your perfect hindsight
You could go then
But there's no going back
So you go now

Did I waste it
Youth in my mind
A goal in perfect
and measured out time

I could've laughed more
Searched more for my finds
But would it have changed
my motion in lines

You go now
Pushing ahead with your life
Frozen in black and white
You go now
From your perfect hindsight
You could go then
But there's no going back
So you go now

Draw me back to those days
In pure and timeless shame
Moving back through the years
Where today was so far away

So you go now
Running back for your life
Recapturing warmth and light
You go now
To your perfect night
The middle of the end
Where there's no going back
So you go now